Foreword

The Meteor staff presents this year-book to the class of 1961 in hopes that we have captured and collected all the highlights of your high school years in this book.

To each graduate we extend sincere wishes for a happy and rewarding future.

Dedication

The class of 1961 dedicates this year-book to Miss Alice Wilson in tribute for her many years of devoted service to better prepare the youth of Berlin for the future.

Harvey Strout Retiring

The students and faculty of Berlin High School join together in wishing Mr. Strout a fruitful retirement after many years of service to Berlin's Public Schools.

Principal's Message

My earnest wish for the Class of 1961 is that you may enjoy a life of real peace, prosperity, and happiness.

Through the medium of this Meteor, you will quickly recall your friends, teachers, and experiences that have meant much to you during your school years. You will find that memories fade quickly and your yearbook will be more meaningful to you as the years pass on.

We are living in a revolutionary technological society, and new ideas and plans that a few years ago were considered idle folly are now within our grasp. We have already witnessed amazing developments in our efforts to conquer Outer Space. We know that within our lifetime even greater feats will be accomplished. With these developments, new challenges and responsibilities will be thrust upon our people. All of you will be expected to accept a share of these responsibilities and to contribute in varied ways to preserve and protect our democracy and the way of life that we so dearly cherish.

Your high school, as you know it, will undergo revisions. New facilities and materials will be provided and different methods used, as research gives new direction for the dissemination of knowledge. During your high school years, you have witnessed changes in the areas of science, mathematics, and guidance services. Other important improvements will have to be made in almost all other areas if we are to meet our responsibilities as an educational institution. It is my fervent wish that you understand the contributions education must make to our society. As adult citizens you will be called upon to make many decisions that will in one way or another affect our educational objectives. If you have learned to think clearly and to serve with honest motives, even when surrounded by confusion and boisterous voices, then you are ready to accept your responsibilities.

With your high school experiences behind you, new paths of accomplishment must be followed and new goals established. Face them in an inquiring and exploring manner. Be open-minded and courageous, and with ambition and perseverance progress will be yours.

With hope that you have a full realization of the sacrifices made by your parents during your high school years, I trust that you will continue to grow in wisdom and in favor with God and man.

President's Message

We, the Class of 1961, having spent four years under the guidance of the Berlin High School faculty, wish to take this opportunity to express our gratitude for their patience, time, and effort in preparing us for life's school.

To you, the parents, we extend our sincerest thanks for your support and willingness to help us in all our efforts during these memorable high school years.

As president, I wish to convey my appreciation to my classmates for their co-operation, for our high school years would not have been the successes which they were without this group of young individuals.

LAST WILL AND

We, the Class of 1961, of the City of Berlin, in the County of Coos, and in the State of New Hampshire, being of sound mind, memory, and understanding, do make our last will and testament in manner and form as follows:

To the juniors we leave the pleasure and honor of taking the senior tests.

To all the sophomores we leave the worries, hopes, anxieties, and fun of the last two years of high school.

To the freshmen we leave our best wishes for success in the coming winter carnival.

To the faculty we leave the most sincere appreciation for all the knowledge that they have so earnestly tried to bestow upon us.

Allen Sabbag leaves Bed 2, Room 12, St. Louis Hospital to "Bon Homme" Elger!

Susan Graves warns Donna Chadwick to keep her sense of balance at all times.

Louis Thibeault leaves his spray deodorant to Bobby Drouin to use after hockey games, in hopes that he will get his own.

Elaine Wilson wills Kevin Hughes the blarney which Sharon Hughes willed to her.

Susan Evans leaves Bonnie Lizotte and Bonnie Oleson to freezer at the State Street door if they still enjoy it.

Norman Devoe leaves the B.H.S. hockey net to any goalie who wants to practice on his pitching.

Sharon Fletcher leaves her typewriter in office practice to Jeanne Valliere.

Before Irving Quimby leaves, he has just one more question-----?

Laurent Boucher wills his red, curly hair to Marshall Santy.

Jackie Roy wills her fancy hair styles to Sharon Gallant.

Jeanne Riendeau leaves her long fingernails to Wanda Dupuis.

Joyce Young leaves her shyness to Alison Campbell.

Bobby Anderson leaves his pool cue to Philip Rasys.

Jimmy Murphy leaves his parking place on Gorham Hill to Kenny Gendron.

Carline Rayner will receive Nancy Lamontagne's gift of gab.

Reggie Valliere leaves Mr. Kneeland in peace.

Marilyn Aube leaves Kathy Seaborne as winter carnival manager next year.

Billy Riff leaves his parking place to any junior boy who wants it.

Roger Kenison leaves with Sandy Burlock.

Eric Johnson leaves his Bogners to the retired ski coach.

Patty Fauteux wills all her shortness to Martha Peloquin.

Leon Michaud wills Bobbie Hood his many trips to L'il Abner's.

Kenny McLain leaves Darlene Hart to stroll the corridors alone.

Sylvia Rodrique leaves Gloria Bellemore to attend faithfully all the Berlin Maroon hockey games next year.

Jeff Davis leaves Berlin High School, in peace!!

Louise Yandow wills her big, sparkling, blue eyes to Patty Lane.

Richard Bailey leaves Berlin High School in the capable hands of his brother Maurice.

Sandy Donovan leaves her basketball captainship to Mary Jensen and Mary Oleson.

Ronnie Hawkins leaves the end of Highland Park Avenue to Henry Arsenault.

Polly Comtois leaves her short hair to Mary Ann Drouin.

Jane Brady and Fern Kenison leave approximately 25 miles of bumpy roads from Jefferson to Berlin to Elizabeth Kenison.

Tom Morin leaves a strip of tar in front of the Senior High to Billy Dube.

Rolande Chabot leaves her bottle of hydrogen peroxide to Joanne Eastman.

Louis Thibeault leaves to Bonnie Lizotte the keys to the bank, in hopes that she will open on time.

Barbara Locke leaves her seat in P.O.D class to Bonnie Oleson.

Jeanne Turgeon receives Donna Radsky's height.

John Wiswell wills his keys to Mr. Pinette's tool box to Douglas Farrington.

Shirley Duguay leaves her title as Winter Carnival Queen of the undefeated class of 1961.

Claire Boutin appoints Lillian Michaud as the new president of the Pseudo-Psychologist Association.

Norman Cross wills his paper route to Stephen Woodward.

John MacKinnon wills all his muscles and shoes to Gerard Pinette.

Vivian Bergeron wills her eating place in the cafeteria to some future cafeteria worker.

T E S T A M E N T

Carlton Eames leaves Carlton Holt to ride to school next year on the new highway from Berlin to Milan.

Cynthia Peabody leaves the organ and piano undusted.

Ronnie Leach and Lucy Laroche leave Henry Arsenault their parties - - especially Christmas night.

Reinhard Schneider leaves his love for the cross-country trail to Alfred Goldenberg in hopes that he, too, will learn to love it.

Jon Lafleur and Dick Mangan leave to Sue Carroll the key to the press club room.

Earl Chamberlain, is the fortunate one to receive all of Ronnie Oleson's quiet ways and his ability to make faces.

Eleanor French leaves Bobby Tennis and Dick Langlois to go ice skating together.

Kurt Tourangeau leaves the Key Club in the hands of Arthur Lizzie.

Don LaRoche wills his weight to Louis Michaud.

Hud Tankard wills his blond hair to Don Henderson.

Susan McKinney wills her quiet ways to Eloide Beroney.

Bruce Nolin leaves his drum corps records to George Kelley.

Melodie Michaud leaves her sleeping place in the girls' basement to any sleepy junior girl.

Clifford Carroll leaves the school's old records to Ronnie Lamontagne and hopes he will enjoy listening to them.

Ann Holroyd leaves all her memories of the Laconia Exchange Concert to Bobbie Hood.

The Brooks brothers don't want to leave anything.

Vern Ann Robichaud gives her great selection of cars to Sandra Ruel.

Dick Nelson leaves Sonny Vachon as the new foreman in auto mechanics.

Lucy LaRoche leaves her cheerleading captainship to some deserving cheerleader.

Eugene Fortin leaves William Southerland to fold Tatlers next year.

Mary Murphy warns all juniors, about to take their driving tests, to beware of telephone posts!

Paula Brouillette, Nicole Larin, Cheryl Ordway, Carolyn Rasmussen, and Linda Sias, the top secretaries of the class, leave their many hours of shorthand homework to the future shorthand students next year.

Keith Olmstead wills his front desk in Mrs. Buckley's English class to Freddy Colford.

Eleanor French leaves her Sunday skiing trips to Wildcat to any junior who can manage to get a junior ticket every time.

Keith Mortenson leaves his daily sixth-period trips into office practice to any adventuring junior.

Roger Charron leaves his ability to play the guitar to Roger Pelletier.

Kenny Mortenson wills his hot rod magazines to David Oleson.

Denny McCarthy leaves his pearl-handled bottle opener to Albert Aubin.

Russell Douglas leaves the East Milan Road to Donald Glover.

Richard Allen leaves his linotype to Edward Smith—"may he rest in peace!!!"

Yvon Langlais wills his Webster's New World Dictionary to Francis Murphy.

Kenny McLain wills his Ford to Edward Smith. When his Oldsmobile breaks down, he won't have to walk.

Walter Mullins leaves Chester Eames his tool box in Auto Mechanics.

Walter Couture leaves his dirty coveralls to Raymond Gagnon.

Jerry Gooden leaves Peter Hauser the motor from his Ford.

Hud Tankard wills his bottle of Listerine to Jimmy Vaillancourt.

Carole Burlock leaves her field hockey stick to Judy Flint.

Edward LaLiberty leaves all his politeness to every junior.

Paul Drouin hands over his accident insurance policy to Robert Guay.

Roger Dandeneau leaves his car to Richard Belanger.

Ronnie Parsons leaves George Carter his ability to flirt.

Steve Drapeau wills his ability to play hockey to Paul Cote.

Carl Nolin leaves his romantic ways to Robert Bedard.

Roland Roberge leaves Leo Croteau to sit in the stock room fourth periods next year.

Leo LaBonte wills all his senior tests to David St. Cyr.

CLASS PROPHECY

The time: Some time out there in the future, but who knows when.

The place: You'll see.

Voice: Operator! Operator!

Operator: Operator.

Voice: I want to place a long-distance station to station call to the Honki Honki Hotel in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Operator: One moment, please.

Pause--Pause--Click--Click--Pause--

Operator: Please deposit $2.37

Cling--Cling--Cling--Cling--Clunk--

Operator: Sorry, M'am, slugs are not acceptable American currency.

Voice: Oh, certainly. Pardon me.

Operator: One moment, please.

Pause--pause--Click--Click--Hum--Hum--

Operator: Please deposit $3.79.

Cling--Cling--and the usual assortment of sounds. BUZZ!!!!

Operator: I have your party, M'am.

Voice from Hawaii: Aloha, Aloha.

Voice in Berlin: Hello? Is this the Hotel Honki Honki?

Voice in Hawaii: Yes, M'am. What can I do you for?

Voice in Berlin: I want a reservation for the week of June 15.

Voice in Hawaii: Certainly, M'am. What is your name please?

Voice in Berlin: Miss Paula Comtois.

Voice in Hawaii: Polly!

Polly: Hello?

Voice in Hawaii: Polly! It's me! It's Keith! Keith Mortenson!

Polly: Keith Mortenson!

Berlin Operator: Keith Mortenson!

Operator in Hawaii: Not Keith Mortenson!?

Keith: What's that? That interruption? Polly?

Berlin Operator: Keith, this is Louise Yandow! You remember me! I'm the operator at the Berlin Telephone Office.

Keith: Oh, I always figured you'd turn out to be an operator. But whose was that other voice?

Hawaiian Operator: Me, Keith! Marilyn Aube! I didn't know you were here in Hawaii, too!

Keith: Yes, I've been desk clerk here at the Hotel Honki Honki since I got out of the Marines.

Polly: But I thought you were still in the Marines!

Keith: No, I didn't re-enlist after my hitch, but I left Walter Couture there. He really likes it. Mr. Bradley sold him on the idea of a career in the Marines back in high school. You're coming down for the class reunion, right?

Polly: Yes, have many of our old classmates sent in their reservations, yet?

Keith: Yes, almost everybody. You're late, as usual. You do know that some of our old buddies have been living here for quite a while. Remember the redhead, Fern Kenison? Well, she's the cigarette girl here at the South Seas Club. And guess what Lucy's doing!

Louise: Lucy LaRoche?

Keith: Yeah, that's the same Lucy. She's our main attraction. She has a six month contract as a professional dancer for our guests.

Louise: Is Irving Quimby still your special salad-tosser?

Keith: Of course. Didn't you see last Sunday's headlines - - -

"Tomato in orbit?"

Marilyn: Gee, Keith, I didn't realize there were so many of us around here. I knew that Sue Graves had had to move her dangerous business here to Hawaii. The best part of it all is her bookie agency's clever motto: "If you can't be a horse, play one"

Polly: Well, good ol' Sue. I'm glad she's finally found the work she was cut out to do. I know it takes a lot of talent.

Marilyn: Yes, and she receives a lot of tips from Sharon Fletcher, who has been a jockey at Churchill Downs for more than five years.

Polly: I have some news just as surprising. Elaine Wilson provided Claire Boutin with her first job. Elaine raises the sweet little skunks for the stylish stoles that Claire's firm creates. Don't tell Claire this, but whenever an all black skunk turns up accidentally, Norman Devoe just paints a white stripe down its back and it gets sold with the rest of the bunch.

Marilyn: Since when is there such a thing as an all black skunk?

Polly: Since Reinhard Schneider made a mistake while breeding them in his laboratory.

Louise: Oh, let's change the the subject.

Marilyn: Leon Dubey is still living on Susan McKinney's banana plantation. He needs her bananas for his monkey business. He babysits for the little monkeys while their parents are out in space.

Polly: Oh, I didn't know that. I heard that Nancy Lamontagne was in Hawaii, too. Anybody seen her?

Keith: Certainly. She's another one of my co-workers. She's one of the best dining room hostesses in the city of Honolulu. I guess you didn't realize how many of the employees at this hotel are our former classmates. - - - - Oh, sorry, Reg. That was Reggie Valliere. He empties the ash trays in this joint. It's a big job. Linda Sias and Dennis McCarthy are also on the billing for our night club shows. They've been working here since they left the circus. Linda eats fire, any kind and all colors. Dennis is a well-known tight-rope walker around these parts.

Polly: Has anyone arrived already? Like for an extra long vacation?

Keith: Paula Brouillette is honeymooning with her husband Prince Tahuki, the chief of a large and important tribe.

John Wiswell is very grateful to her for getting him a contract to sell bongos to her new relatives.

Louise: Carolyn Rasmussen made the front page of the Berlin Reporter. She put her knowledge of engineering to good use by constructing a suspension bridge between Mount Jasper and Mount Forist.

Marilyn: What's the purpose of that?

Louise: Nothing, but it's kept her busy. Oh! Jeff Davis also made page one. He's on trial for bulb snatching at General Electric factory, but we don't have to worry about him. He'll pull through with Mr. Magoo, his lawyer.

Marilyn: I hope so. Well, the class of '61 really is getting in print. But that's nothing when you consider all the print turned out by Sandy Burlock the mad editor - - - I mean the editor of Mad. Ann Holroyd rolls the presses, and Jane Brady comes up with the goony cartoons.

Keith: Gee, I never knew so much news could get by me, but it did.

Polly: Oh, I've got some news!

Keith: I had the floor. A while back someone did ask me who else was here. Cheryl Ordway and Richard Nelson work for the same modeling agency. Cheryl models bikinis, and Dickie is the fashion co-ordinator. And just about this time of day, if you are on the beach, you'd run into Alfred McVetty teaching his hoola classes.

Polly: Enough out of you, Mortenson. I'm paying for this phone call. You'll never guess what Steve Drapeau is doing. He's a lumberjack at Parmachenee. Billy Riff is flapping pancakes up there. They're both breaking all kinds of records.

Louise: Have any of you read Ronald Oleson's new book?

Polly: Read it! Well, that's practically an impossibility.

Apparently, you don't realize how long it is--9 1/2 volumes.

Louise: Really! Well, I had heard that he had spent ten years in Tanganyika doing research for it.

Polly: Yes, that's right. And Nicole Larin went with him.

She says that the Tanganyikan guppies please her customers the most.

Marilyn: She sells guppies?!

Polly: No, she doesn't. She hunts for them.

Marilyn: Did you know that Jerry Gooden plays the violin in the Honolulu Civic Symphony? Well, he does. And I was just so thrilled by his solo last week I decided to send him a little gift and remind him about the reunion on the card. I went to one of the biggest department stores, and who should be the floor walker in the imported cheese department? No one but Richard Turmel! That was some surprise!

Louise: I received a surprise like that last week. I went to the hospital to visit Shirley Duguay, because she broke her leg practicing pole-vaulting in Memorial Field. And who do you suppose had set the bone? Hubert Brooks. It was a very delicate operation. They called Ronald Leach to come up from Mary Hitchcock to administer the anesthesia.

Keith: Gee, that's a pity. Wasn't Shirley training for the Olympics?

Louise: Yes, she was. Her fans have sent her the loveliest flowers. The man who manages the Lonely Petunia Flower Shop, told me he'd never sold so many flowers so fast.

Keith: I think that Kenneth Mortenson will be traveling the farthest to come to this reunion. He's a Christmas tree salesman in Shangri-La.

Polly: Hmm, that name sounds familiar. Who else lives in some far-out place?

Keith: Arthur Brooks. He refuses to change with the times. He's still a fortune teller, but he's had trouble drumming up business, so he's been traveling around a lot. The last time I heard from him he was in Dogpatch.

Louise: Oh! Speaking of Dogpatch, that reminds garbage collecting crew at 4:30 every morning.

Louise: Eleanor French is working for the city government, too.

Marilyn: Oh, really? What does she do?

Louise: Who do you suppose has been dragging the Androscoggin River every spring when it's time for spring cleaning?

Keith: Has anyone been to John MacKinnon's museum?

Polly: When I was there, he was out hunting for some new displays.

Marilyn: What does he display in his museum?

Polly: Big John is preserving a stuffy tradition of the fashion world. He has a fantastic collection of out-dated objects, one of which was donated by Jimmy Murphy's great-grandmother.

Marilyn: I suppose you all know that Vivian Bergeron will not attend the reunion.

Louise: Why? Won't her boss give her any time off?

Marilyn: Well, if your boss was Paul Drouin, you would find it hard to get away, too. Vivian is working in a store and Paul is the proprietor.

Keith: Oh, can't we change to a sweeter subject.

Polly: I know something real sweet. Walter Mullins is a perfume-smeller in Leon Michaud's factory. Leon's newest creation is "Twilight in North Milan."

Marilyn: I haven't heard from Vern Ann since she set out on her last safari, but I'm not really too worried. Disneyland is quite tame.

Louise: I went to Disneyland last year and saw Mary Murphy but she didn't even recognize me. She was too dizzy painting barber poles. I spent so much money on the Merry-Go-Round, to get home I had to borrow some money from Donna Radsky's "Let Me Help You" loan agency.

Keith: Sandy Donovan and Melodie Michaud are bird watchers who are definitely the most active members of the newly formed bird-watching society.

Polly: Anybody can watch a bird.

Keith: Oh yeah? That's what Roland Roberge said, too, but look at him now. What a stiff neck. He hasn't seen his own feet in a month.

Polly: The liner I'm taking to Hawaii is captained by Yvon Langlais. The manager of a little sporting goods shop on board is Rolande Chabot.

Louise: In the local topics column of "The Berlin Reporter" I read that Ronnie Parsons had headed for California to prospect for gold.

Marilyn: Oh, he headed out there all right, but he got off the bus at Las Vegas and hasn't gone any further yet.

Louise: Who told you that?

Marilyn: Jeanne Riendeau, and she ought to know. She was the bus driver.

Louise: Well, I've always said Las Vegas would be a great place for prospecting for gold.

Keith: Did you know that Eugene Fortin produces the "Retouchables?"

Polly: What's that? Another TV show?

Keith: No. It's make-up for women under 19½.

Polly: I believe that Roger Dandeneau is performing an invaluable service in the Peace Corps. He is willing to penetrate any frontiers in order to teach the proper method of taffypulling. However, his generous spirit is no better than that of his assistant, Richard Allen, who cheerfully consumes all the taffy made during a demonstration so that there will be no waste.

Marilyn: The tiddley winks finals were not publicized extensively, but I recieved a post card from Jackie Roy in Australia telling me of her victory.

Louise: I never saw a busier man than Jon Lafleur last fall. He's an auctioneer, and he had to attend county fairs all over the state.

Keith: I just received a telegram from Russell Douglass. He says that he will be most happy to bring his combs and play for the reunion.

Polly: Well, I'm very happy to hear that, but I won't be happy to see my bill from this phone call.

Keith: I know, Polly, but don't worry about it. We'll take up a collection at the reunion. Besides, the operators did most of the talking, so you won't be charged very much.

Louise and Marilyn: WHAT!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

CLASS HISTORY

In order that you may become better acquainted with the class of '61, we are going to give you a few statistics before we begin the actual history.

Our class is one thousand eight hundred ninety-four years old, the average being eighteen. The oldest member of our class is Edward Laliberty, who is twenty-one years old, and Jeanne Riendeau is the youngest being sixteen years, two months old.

The class is five hundred eighty-one feet tall, with Leo Brideau, Paul Drouin, and Leon Dubey each contributing six feet, two inches. Patty Fauteux at four feet and eleven inches is the shortest.

The average shoe size may be eight, but we have many people on either side. John MacKinnon wears a size twelve shoe while Paula Brouillette wears a size five.

We weigh fourteen thousand pounds or seven and one-tenth tons. Don LaRoche is the heaviest, tipping the scales at two hundred twenty-four while Paula Brouillette is the lightest at ninety pounds.

Now, that you know a little about us, we shall continue with the history. The class of '61, as such, first appeared on the scene in September, 1957, when, as one hundred twenty-seven somewhat dubious freshmen, we entered Berlin Junior High School. We soon became accustomed to the swing of things, as all good freshmen must. At our first class meeting we chose as our officers: Walter Philbrick, President; Carolyn Rasmussen, Vice-President; Paula Comtois, Secretary-Treasurer; and Susan Evans and Martha Nusman, Student Council representatives.

When winter carnival time arrived, we elected Pam McNeal as our candidate. The class and she worked very hard and, as a result, we became the second freshman class in the history of Berlin High to win the carnival queen contest. We were rewarded by being given a day off from school to go to Forest Lake for a class picnic.

Lucy LaRoche did a splendid job as captain of the Junior Varsity cheering squad which consisted of nine other freshmen girls.

Thirteen members of our class were in chorus and fifteen members were in the band. Two students from our class represented us at All-State.

We also had representatives on various girls' and boys' sport teams, and the Reporter, Meteor, and Tatler staffs. Five boys were initiated into the Key Club.

At the end of the year it was announced that Susan Evans and Norman Cross were the recipients of the American Legion Citizenship awards. We were certainly proud of them.

The summer vacation passed all too quickly, and, before we knew it, we were back again as sophomores, feeling only a few degrees more important than before. Our class had, by this time, assumed more normal proportions, having decreased to one hundred and eighteen members - a loss of eleven during the first year.

That year we elected Walter Philbrick, President; Carolyn Rasmussen, Vice-President; Susan Graves, Secretary-Treasurer; and Susan Evans, Student Council.

As sophomores we were determined to again win the winter carnival. With Carolyn Rasmussen as our candidate, and Miss Moffett as our advisor, our efforts were fulfilled and Carolyn was crowned. Once more we enjoyed the reward of a class picnic at Forest Lake.

That year, some more of us proved ourselves by being elected or nominated to various organizations in the school, namely: Key Club to which two sophomores were elected, National Athletic Honor Society, with three of our boys included, and audio visual.

In sports we had boys on the varsity football team, the varsity hockey team, varsity ski team, the varsity basketball team, and the baseball team. We also had students on the girls' softball field hockey, and basketball teams, the dramatics club, and senior high band and chorus.

Lucy LaRoche was the only member of the varsity cheering squad.

As the year ended, we discovered, to our astonishment, that we had reached the halfway mark in our high school career. Little did we know that the next two years would be even busier.

Well, there we were, half way there, and what a year that turned out to be! Again, as in the past, we selected our able class representatives; our President, Allen Sabbag; our Vice-President, Susan Graves; our Secretary-Treasurer, Paula Comtois; our Student Council Representative, Elaine Wilson.

We noticed that that year we had lost ten members, which left one hundred and eight of us.

We were very proud when eleven members of our class were elected to the National Honor Society, and when three boys were elected to the National Athletic Scholarship Society. Twenty-seven members were elected to Masque and Gavel, and seven were elected to Quill and Scroll.

After Christmas vacation, we immediately started on the winter carnival, which was a battle between the class of 1960 and us. Sandra Burlock, our hardworking general, gave the commands that brought us victory. She and her army raised over a thousand dollars, and not only that, our general was crowned! Again we were given a special leave, and once more we returned to our favorite spot, Forest Lake, for our annual class picnic.

After two weeks of recuperating from the carnival, several members of our class were caught up in the whirlwind of the Junior Play. This year's production, "SECOND CHILDHOOD", directed by Mr. Redfern, featured excellent acting which made the play a success.

Our class was very active in the world of sports that year. We had six boys on the football team, five boys on the varsity basketball team, six girls on the girl's basketball team, four boys on the hockey team, three boys on the ski team, and four girls on the field hockey team.

Cheering these teams on were five of our girls.

In May, four of our students were elected to represent us at Girls' State and Boys' State. They were Cheryl Ordway, Susan Evans, John MacKinnon, and Clifford Carroll.

The final main event of the year was our Junior Prom. The gym was beautifully decorated in a Japanese Motif. The music for the occasion was furnished by Lloyd Rafnell and his band. Martha Nusman was chosen Junior Prom Queen and her escort was Walter Philbrick.

Carl Nolin and Allen Sabbag were co-captains of the basketball team. Other seniors on the team were Irving Quimby and Norman Cross. Oh! we must not forget that hardworking manager, the one and only Keith Mortenson.

We had three of our boys representing us on the hockey team. They were Steve Drapeau and Louis Thibeault, co-captains, and Norman Devoe, goalie.

Three more of our boys did a superb job on the ski team that year. They were Eric Johnson, Ozzie Oleson, and Hud Tankard.

Numerous other senior boys participated in baseball.

Many senior girls represented us on their teams of field hockey, basketball, and softball.

All these teams were inspired by a very active group of cheerleaders. Lucy LaRoche led this squad, which consisted of five other senior girls. They were: Polly Comtois, Sandy Burlock, Elaine Wilson, Martha Nusman, and Mary Murphy.

When the annual winter carnival once more arrived, every single class at B.H.S. was bound and determined to beat us. However, we said it couldn't be done, and we proved it when, with Shirley Duguay as our candidate, we once more reigned. We were extremely proud for we had won the carnival queen contest for six consecutive years, something no other class has ever done.

In April, our class had excellent representation at the All State Music Festival.

We were proud to be able to say that about thirty per cent of our classmates belong to the National Honor Society, and other such important organizations. The honor students were Susan Evans, highest general scholarship; Ronald Parsons, first in College Preparatory course; Cheryl Ordway, first in Commercial course; Louis Thibeault, first in General course; and William Riff, first in Mechanical Arts course.

The rest of the school year elapsed quickly and too soon our final activities were upon us. Although we anticipated graduation, many of us were a bit sad about leaving B.H.S. and all its fond memories.

When we marched down the aisle for the last time as a group, on June 15, 1961, we realized that the word "senior" has represented a wonderful year; but, it is really the saddest word in our class history. It means the end of our high school life, separation from many of our friends, and the end of adolescence.

We must now begin our new lives, for "the past is forever gone, the future still our own".
